

Find the Best Attorney for Spinal Cord Injuries

When you work with an attorney after a spinal cord injury, you put yourself in a position to secure maximum compensation. You also build a strong case with trusted medical and accident experts who support your claim from the start. Legal guidance further helps protect your rights against insurance companies, prevent costly mistakes that weaken your claim, and give you peace of mind.

The World Health Organization estimates that spinal cord injuries affect upwards of 15 million people across the globe. If your injury was caused by negligence, the right legal advocate can help protect your future. Our Honolulu personal injury & medical malpractice attorney has recovered $47+ million for clients in the past few years.

What Is the Average Settlement for a Spinal Injury?

No two spinal injury cases look the same, so quoting a simple average can mislead you about what your claim is worth. What you get as compensation for spinal injuries depends on factors such as:

- Severity of the injury
- Cost of medical care
- Lost income
- Insurance coverage and fault

How Long Does It Take To Get a Settlement for a Back Injury?

A spinal cord injury lawyer will often wait until you reach maximum medical improvement so future care costs and income loss can be valued with accuracy. Straightforward cases may resolve within months. Disputed claims with severe harm can take over a year due to:

- Investigation
- Medical review
- Negotiations

Choosing the Right Legal Advocate After a Spinal Cord Injury

The attorney you choose after a spinal cord injury can influence how your case unfolds and what you recover. A strong legal advocate helps you:

Secure Maximum Compensation for Medical Costs and Long-Term Care

Strong spinal injury legal help ensures your claim accounts for the full cost of living with serious harm. Your attorney will document and project costs such as:

- Future surgeries
- Rehabilitation care
- In-home assistance
- Medical equipment
- Lost earning capacity

Build a Strong Case With Medical and Accident Experts

An experienced attorney for injury claims builds your case with detailed medical proof and expert analysis that show how the injury occurred and how it affects your future. To do that, your lawyer works with experts such as:

- Treating physicians
- Accident reconstruction experts
- Vocational experts

Protect Your Rights Against Insurance Companies

Insurance companies use various tactics to limit what they pay, so you need the best injury attorney to take control of the negotiations and protect the value of your claim.

Your lawyer pushes back against strategies such as:

- Disputing medical necessity
- Downplaying future care needs
- Blaming you for the accident
- Delaying responses to force pressure

Protecting Your Future After a Spinal Cord Injury

A spinal cord injury brings lasting medical needs and financial strain that demand careful legal action. The right attorney helps you pursue fair compensation, relies on credible experts, and stands firm during insurance negotiations.

At Cummings Law, we bring over 25 years of experience handling and trying complex medical malpractice and personal injury cases across Hawaii. Our attorney holds board certification in medical malpractice and remains one of only two lawyers in Hawaii with this distinction. Contact us to secure the full support and compensation your recovery demands.